GRATITUDE

PPEs for Dengue

The outbreak of dengue in the wake of calamitous floods and recent spells of heavy monsoon rains has assumed the proportion of an epidemic in the federal capital and the flood hit areas. The number of dengue fever cases in Pakistan have risen by more than 10,000 since the beginning of October, according to the most recent data from the health ministry.

The use of mosquito repellents, protective clothing, and mosquito nets are important measures of personal protection against dengue. These are easy to use, safe, and they are not very expensive. IDEA team has visited different communities and distributed the PPEs to control and prevent the disease.
